

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS
CANCER CENTER

Bench to Community

What Matters to You?

A Skilled Communications and Shared Decision Making Workshop for Patients, Caregivers, Providers, and Advocates

Saturday, June 2, 2018
9:30 am – 2:00 pm
UIC Student Center West
Thompson Room (2nd Floor)
828 S. Wolcott
Chicago, IL 60612

National Patient
Advocate Foundation

Space is limited to 40 participants. Lunch will be provided. Please RSVP at <https://goo.gl/1iUUk7>.

This interactive event is sponsored by the Patient Advocate Foundation (PAF) and National Patient Advocate Foundation (NPAF) in partnership with the University of Illinois Cancer Center (UI Cancer Center) to support shared decision making across clinical care settings. This one-day workshop will bring together stakeholders including patients, caregivers, providers and advocates to participate in a series of discussions and hands-on activities designed to produce a tool kit that can be used as a training module or template for improving skilled communications and shared decision making. The focus of this event is on community-based clinical settings, targeting urban underserved populations facing cancer disparities—groups that the UI Cancer Center has a long, distinguished history of serving. The NPAF is committed to making person-centered care a reality for people facing serious illnesses by improving communication skills for patients and providers and helping patients become active, engaged partners in their health care decision making.

For more information on the National Patient Advocate Foundation and its work, go to npaf.org.